REPORT.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR GRACIOUS MAJESTY,

1. We, the Commissioners of Charitable Donations and Bequests for Ireland, appointed under an Act passed in the 7th and 8th years of your Majesty's reign, entitled "An Act for the more effectual Application of Charitable Donations and Bequests in Ireland," humbly beg leave to submit to your Majesty this our Thirty-eighth Annual Report.

2. Since our last Report 28 meetings have been summoned, and of these 27 have been effectual. We have made 228 orders in various matters affecting charities and charity property, besides providing for the regular issue of the sums payable to the charities under our control.

3. The amount of our solicitor's costs for the past year was £219 1s. 9d., of which £12 16s. 5d. is chargeable upon the Vote as irrecoverable, the remainder being provided for out of the various charity funds.

4. The Exchequer continues to receive from us £41 18s. 4d., being the annual dividend on an old endowment, from private sources, placed in the hands of the late Board in 1815, "to assist them in recovering embezzled charities;" this is not required for that purpose, so long as costs incurred, and not otherwise realized, are paid out of the Parliamentary vote.

5. Funds for various charitable purposes, to the number of 221, have been lodged with us from time to time, since the "Charitable Donations and Bequests Act (Ireland), 1867," enabled Trustees to make such voluntary transfers.

The entire amount so received since 1867 is £92,691 17s. 9d. New Three per Cent. Stock, £9,603 12s. 6d. Consols, £42,159 14s. 3d. Cash, and £10,424 12s. 11d. miscellaneous.

In the last year, taken separately, these amounted to £12,973 7s. 1d. New Three per Cent. Stock, £1,024 8s. 3d. Consols, £17,138 18s. 9d. Cash, and £473 4s. 9d. miscellaneous.

A detailed list of the sums so transferred for each one of the past three years, with the trusts on which they are held, will be found in the fifth Schedule hereto. From this it will appear that the trusts are of a varied nature, comprising objects of very different character, according to the peculiar views and wishes of the testators or donors. It is the duty of this Board to have all these alike faithfully carried out, so long as they are practicable.

6. From the year 1845 until 1873, it had been the usual practice to annex to the Annual Reports Schedules showing in detail the amounts and trusts of each charity separately. This frequent repetition we thought an unnecessary expense, and, therefore, discontinued it for a time, giving instead Schedules of all funds received since the last complete publication. It is not, however, desirable to allow too long an interval to elapse without such detailed information, which is found to be useful for inference, and in answer to the inquiries of the public. We, therefore, after an interval of ten years, now give Schedules of all the Government and miscellaneous securities under our control, and of the several charitable purposes to which they are applied. This presents a general view of the nature and extent of the duties of this Board. The aggregate amounts, as held on 1st of January, 1883, consist of £221,682 8s. 7d. New Three per Cent. Stock, of £96,958 2s. 8d. Consols, of £3,895 18s. 6d. Cash, and of £13,741 18s. miscellaneous. In addition, we receive rents and annuities of the yearly value of £2,553 2s. 6d.

7. It appears from the fifth Schedule that the funds lodged with us by trustees of charities are increasing in amount as the advantages of such a course are becoming more generally understood. For some years there seemed to be an apprehension that if funds were transferred to us we might interfere in the management of the charity, and unduly fetter the discretion of the persons entrusted with its administration. It is now, however, beginning to be better understood that the advantage of placing the principal sums in our corporate name is to secure their permanent custody, and to save the recurring expense of appointing new trustees; while the trustees and managing bodies themselves are as unfettered in their administration as if they still retained the funds. Whether funds stand in our names or in the names of private trustees, our intervention is only called for and exerted in cases of abuse or misapplication.

8. Among the powers conferred by recent legislation for the benefit of charities, that which enables the Court of Chancery to order a transfer to us of funds impressed with charitable trusts, which have been lying there wholly unapplied, has proved to be the most useful. The duty of giving effect—so far as can be done—to the intentions of the donors and testators then devolves on us, and during the past year the following sums have, on our application to the Court, been transferred to us.

|---|--|
| In the charity left by the will of the late Rev. J. O'Callaghan, for the Poor of two Parishes in the county Roscommon, | £1,004 2 10 |
| | Govt. New 3 per Cent. Stock, and £473 6 8 cash. |
| In the matter of Jane Maria Gordon, a lunatic, a donation by Miss Geddon, towards the support of a School on the estate of Flaxley Manor in the county of Down, | £898 14 11 Like Stock, and £235 11 2 cash. |
| In the charity of Miss Anne Hall for a School in the town of Roscommon, | £911 14 8 Like Stock, and £18 0 0 cash. |
| In the same charity for the support of Pupils in an Agricultural School in the county of Derry, | £2,837 13 10 Like Stock, and £16 0 0 cash. |

In each of the above cases the fund had remained unapplied for a long series of years. In the first, the testator died in 1846; the fund appears to have been brought into court in 1854; and has certainly remained unapplied since 1857; so that the accumulated cash dividends transferred to us amounted to £473 6s. 8d.

In J. M. Gordon's charity the amount of the original donation was £333 6s. 8d. In 1866 it had lain long enough in court to have accumulated to £646 11s. 9d.; and, when transferred to us in 1882, had reached the amount above stated. No portion of the fund had ever been applied.

In Miss Anne Hall's charity the bequest for a school at Roscommon was originally but £250. The testatrix died in 1841; and on account of the fund never having been applied to its purposes it had, in the course of upwards of forty years, accumulated to the sum mentioned above.

In the other and larger branch of the charity intended for the benefit of an agricultural school, the deed under which Miss Hall established the endowment bears date the 7th June, 1841. The original amount of her donation was £1,000; but the fund never having been applied, it had, at the date of being transferred to us, reached the sum of £2,837 13s. 10d.

In the first case representations having been made to us that considerable distress prevailed in each of the two parishes named by the testator's will, we caused a sum of £115 1s. 3d., in addition to the half-yearly dividend, to be allocated to each, and we confided the distribution to the Roman Catholic Bishop and Parish Priests, with whom we associated a lay gentleman of local position and influence.

In the second case we communicated with the Commissioners of National Education as to the best means of giving effect to Miss Gordon's intentions. With the aid of the information and suggestions laid before us by them, we have ordered that the dividends arising from the Government Stock should be applied by them in support of the National School at Ballykeigh on the Florida Manor Estate, which appeared to be the school intended to be benefited by the donor.

In the third and fourth cases we have not as yet made any final decision in reference to the funds, but we are in communication with the Commissioners of National Education and with local parties interested in the endowments; and we hope before long to make arrangements for their application.

9. The Board sees no reason why, when applications are made by trustees to the Court of Chancery seeking to lodge money under the Trustee Relief Acts, the Court should not have power, of its own motion, to direct funds intended for charitable purposes to be transferred to this Board, whenever the exercise of such a power would operate for the protection of the funds, by diminishing the necessity of costly applications to the Court for the appointment of new trustees, or to provide for the changes necessarily recurring in the persons directed to receive and administer the incomes.

10. A charity in the parish of Rush, co. of Dublin, has been administered under our control for twenty-two years. It was established by the will of the late Mr. Roger Palmer, and its object is to give annually to poor girls in that locality marriage portions ranging in amount from £10 to £18 14s. 7d. By the scheme framed by the Court of Chancery not more than ten or fewer than five young women can in any one year be selected to partake of the benefits of this endowment. For the first few years after this charity came into operation abuses arose, chiefly caused by a want of care in the selection of the recipients, and in the general supervision of its details. The result was, that the benevolent intentions of the testator were for the most part frustrated by a number of improvident and unhappy marriages, frequently ending in desertion on the part of the husbands. For the last fifteen years all has been changed for the better, and this is mainly due to the care and caution exercised by the present parish priest, who has filled that office during the period referred to, and upon whom has devolved the selection of the recipients, who have nearly all been Roman Catholics. In the first place, he has in each year limited the number of recipients to five, thereby substantially increasing the amount of the portion payable to each. Next, he has made himself acquainted with the characters of the young women themselves, as well as of their intended husbands, and by this means has lessened the chance of unscrupulous adventurers marrying these poor girls, and squandering their little portions. In a report recently submitted to us by the Rev. F. O'Carroll, P.P., he has given a very satisfactory account of the working of an endowment which many persons believe to be, from its nature, injurious and demoralizing.

11. The much larger endowment under the Will of the late Mr. Thomas Charlton, amounting to between £700 and £800 a year, from rents of land and other sources, and with the object also of providing marriage portions, continues to be each year administered under decree of the Court of Chancery; its operations are practically limited to the counties of Meath and Longford, and the objects are the daughters of day labourers within those counties. For the last few years no difficulty has been experienced in any one year in finding a sufficient number of persons to fulfil the conditions laid down by the testator's will; one of the disadvantages arising from this is, that the portions distributed are often too small in amount to confer any real benefit on those who receive them. From the manner in which this charity is administered and the extent of its area, it is difficult to ascertain what its aggregate results have been; but upon the whole they do not appear to have been as beneficial as those reported to us in Roger Palmer's Charity.

12. During the past year many of the other branches of the jurisdiction conferred on us by the statutes of 1867 and 1871 have been largely exercised for the benefit of charities. In former Reports we have observed that the regular publication, which we enforce, of charitable bequests in local newspapers, diminishes the necessity of proceedings for their recovery, and insures their prompt payment. Bequests are in this manner made known to those interested in their application; their realisation is therefore likely to be vigilantly watched, and the facilities for withholding or diverting them are consequently diminished.

13. The Charity accounts of the Commissioners for the year ended December 31, 1881, were duly audited and declared as correct by the Auditor appointed for that purpose by the Local Government Board. The accounts for the year ended December 31, 1882, have been prepared and submitted for audit in conformity with said Order.

14. Accounts of the sum voted by Parliament have been regularly furnished by us, in accordance with the forms adopted under the direction of the Treasury, and the provisions of the "Exchequer and Audit Departments Act, 1866;" and our Appropriation Account for the year ending March 31, 1882, has been certified to be correct by the Auditor-General of Public Accounts.

All which we submit as our Report, and in testimony thereof have caused our corporate seal to be hereto affixed, this 11th day of July, 1883.
